DRY DOCKS WILL BE LARGE ENOUGH FOR BIG PACKETS

Ayer-Lord Plant Being Built at Brookport...Will Be Brought Here.

It Will Have Monthly Payroll of 5,000.

COMPLETE IN EIGHT WEEKS.

The first piece of fir timber to be used in the construction of the Ayer & Lord Tie company's dry docks was sawed and the first spike driven this morning when a force of about 10 ship carpenters began work.

The docks, which are to be located at the foot of Jefferson street, are being built at Brookport under the direction of Thomas Cutting, an experienced shipbuilder of Metropolis. While only a small amount of material is on hand, early shipments of the remainder are expected from Washington and the docks will be rushed to an early completion.

According to Captain Henry Baker, superintendent of the tie company's works here, the docks will be large enough to accommodate the largest racket boat. It is being built large enough to support the towboat Russell-Lord, the flagship of the tie company's fleet here, and this means that the largest river craft can be repaired on them. The docks will be 60x30 feet and operated by 32 combination steam and hand pumps. Upon their completion, which will be about eight weeks, they will be towed to Paducah and the Ayer & Lord Tie company will begin repairing their boats employing a large force of ship caulkers and carpenters with an average payroll of $5,000 per month.

While the docks are to be used principally for the purpose of caring for the company's boats, they will also be used in repairing other boats when there is a slump in business. Boats that are now forced to go elsewhere for repairs will come here as the marine ways are not able to take care of all craft seeking repairs. The enterprise will add materially to the local industries and give employment to men the year round.

The docks will be exempt from taxation for a period of five years.

Navigation Almost Ceases.

Unless the Ohio and Tennessee rivers come to a halt navigation will be tied up at Paducah within a few days, with no prospects of a rise.

The steamer Bob Dudley, which arrived last night from Clarksville, Tenn., after experiencing extreme difficulty in getting here, has withdrawn from the Cumberland river trade and will enter the Paducah and Evansville trade tomorrow, leaving here at 10 o'clock. The steamer John L. Lowry, the regular Evansville packet, is reported aground between here and Evansville. She draws over three feet of water while the Dudley, the lightest draught boat on the river, draws only 19 inches. She will be able to run at a very low stage.

Today the government gauge showed 3.7 feet of water and the reports from above are gloomy. The government report today showed a slight rise of three-tenths of a foot at Pittsburgh and at Louisville, while at other points the river is at a stand or falling. Captain Saunders A. Fowler announced today that unless there is rainfall the Dick Fowler would withdraw from the Paducah and Cairo trade in a few days while the low stage may force the George Cowling, ferryboat Robertson and Ohio to tie up.

There is little water in the Tennessee river and both the Clyde and Kentucky are finding it difficult to get over some spots.

On account of the government gauge at Paducah being broken and disconnected near the four-foot mark the exact stage of the water cannot be told at Paducah. Bids have been sent in by local foundries to repair the gauge, but the contract has not been let.

Measurements are now being taken from the end of the sewer, a few yards south of the gauge.

Mississippi river interests are suffering from the low stage. Both the Stacker Lee and James Lee are reported aground in the Mississippi and the Lee line has chartered the packet Electra, which will leave Paducah tomorrow for Cairo to run between there and Memphis. The crew of the Stacker Lee arrived from Memphis early this morning with Capt. John Flannagan.

Mr. J. Renfro, of Plumpoint, Tenn., is visiting in the city.

Flags Train With Red Skirt and Saves Lives of Passengers, Who Give Rescuer Hatful of Money

Colored Farmer Puts Out Trestle Fire and Stops Cairo Passenger Train From Going Through.

Lives of about 60 passengers were saved this morning when Illinois Central passenger train No. 822, en route from Cairo to Paducah with Chicago and St. Louis connections, was flagged with a red flannel petticoat by Ed Harris, a young colored farmer, and prevented from rushing on a trestle that was weakened by fire.

The passengers rewarded Harris by heaping his cap full of coins and bills. Some passengers, whose purses were slim, took his address with the promise to send more money. After counting the money, Harris had a few cents over $46.

The fire was seen by Harris this morning when he went to his barn to feed his stock, and he at once went up to the trestle, which is between Barlow and La Center, about 22 miles west of Paducah. The fire was burning briskly, but Harris carried water from the stream in a bucket and extinguished the blaze after two spans were destroyed, leaving only the bare and unsupported rails spanning the gap.

With the fire extinguished, Harris thought of the approaching passenger train, which was due in a short time. He rushed to his home and secured an old red flannel petticoat and flagged the train about a half mile from the burned trestle. At the time the train was speeding about 50 miles an hour, and but for the fortunate discovery of the fire, would have crashed onto the trestle as the engineer could not have seen the weakened condition of the trestle in time to check his train.

When the passengers saw the condition of the trestle and realized how narrow their escape from death or serious injuries was, they heaped their reward to Harris. He walked through the train holding out his hat, while the coins fairly swelled the hat. Several ladies in the Pullman sleeper gave him all their small change and took his name and address.

The train, in charge of Engineer William O. Burch and Conductor Henry Harris, arrived in Paducah at 9 o'clock, one hour and a half behind time. The two spans for a distance of 40 feet were destroyed. Bridge men at Barlow were rushed to the scene and quickly made the trestle passable.

The act of Harris will be reported to the railroad officials and it is not unlikely that his reward will be increased.

Danville Murder Case. Danville, Ill., Oct. 31.—Accused of murdering Mrs. Elsie Cochran, whose mutilated body was found in a field near here, Fred Garner, who has been under surveillance, was arrested today. He denies his guilt. The arrest followed the discovery by the sheriff of a horse which, when hitched to a buggy, practically retraced the route from town to the scene of the killing.

His Sixty-sixth Birthday. Alderman Joe E. Potter, 510 North Fourth street, was pleasantly surprised today by his daughters with a birthday dinner in honor of his sixty-sixth birthday. The dinner was an entire surprise to him, but none the less enjoyable.

Jonah Fire Causes Firemen Disasters

A small fire in the rear of the store of the H. A. Petter Supply company, during which a board fence was damaged, was a regular Jonah to the fire department yesterday morning about 11:30 o'clock. In the first place one of the new combination police and fire boxes at First street and Broadway was pulled, but it failed to register properly at either the fire station or the police station. The firemen tried to locate the fire by telephone, but failed. After about five minutes' delay the box was pulled the second time, and the companies answered, but the fire was already out. In getting out of the Central station one of the doors failed to open and the tongue of the hose wagon struck it, breaking out glass and knocking out a panel. The streak of bad luck continued a few minutes later. The No. 4 truck was traveling at a high rate of speed on Kentucky avenue between Fifth and Fourth streets. The black horse to the truck slipped and fell and was dragged about 100 feet before the heavy truck could be checked. Captain Harry Rudolph barely clung to the seat. The horse was bruised so badly that he will be out of service for several weeks.

Horse Had to Be Killed.

A fine bay horse pulling one of the West Kentucky Coal company's wagons and driven by Jerry Harris, colored, slipped and fell in front of the St. Nicholas hotel, 302 South Third street, about 8:30 o'clock this morning, breaking its right hind leg above the hock. Dr. Ed Farley, a veterinarian, killed it using a hypodermic. The horse was valued at about $150.

BISHOP SPEAKS TO TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE AT MASS

Rt. Rev. Denis O'Donaghue Confirms Class of One Hundred, Three.

St. Francis de Sales Church Crowded.

HE VISITS FOUR CHURCHES.

Fully two thousand persons attended the St. Frances De Sales Catholic church yesterday morning at the 9:30 mass, when the bishop, the Right Reverend Denis O'Donaghue administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of one hundred and three. The first mass was at 6 o'clock, and the second mass, at which a class of about 80 received their first communion, was at 7 o'clock.

The bishop was escorted from the parsonage to the church by the members of the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus. They marched from the house on Sixth street and entered the front doors of the church on Broadway. The bishop was immediately preceded by 27 altar boys, who assisted at the mass. The Rev. Father Monaghan, the bishop's secretary, said the mass, after which confirmation was administered.

Father Connelly, in a few well-chosen words, welcomed the bishop to Paducah, on his first visit. The bishop replied modestly. He then addressed the congregation for a few minutes, after which he spoke more especially to the confirmation class.

He complimented the congregation on the handsome church it has erected and said that he had always had the best of reports about the condition of the congregation here. He is expected here next Sunday to fill the pulpit. The Rev. Davis is known in Paducah and bears an excellent reputation. The pulpit Sunday was filled by the Rev. Roscoe Burkhardt, of Paducah.

CALL EXTENDED BY BAPTIST CONGREGATION

In speaking of the confirmation class he dwelt on the blessings the sacrament brought, and what the day meant to each, and then spoke of the obligation of the young people to their church, their fellow-men, to themselves.

To the Confirmationists. "If it were as easy to do right as it is to do wrong, life would be easy," he said. "Heaven is a reward, not an accident. We have to fight for it. Life is a warfare and we are soldiers, fighting the enemies of the soul. To do wrong is easy; anyone can sin. A villain, with one stroke of a hammer, can wreck the finest work of art. And by one sin we can wreck the purest of lives. The enemies of the soul, the devil and all his cohorts, are always at hand, with their temptations.

"What is the devil's object in seeking our ruin? He has fallen himself, and his jealousy and hatred of the cross prompt his desire to crush the soul. You will have to guard against him today, and every day. There are many inducements to lead astray.

"Your great work is to serve God. The gifts to so serve are given each of you."

He spoke of the great beauty of prayer and its aid to right thinking and living. "You are soldiers, so salute your commander when you arise in the morning and again address Him when you prepare to retire at night. Practice the virtue of piety every day as the great means to salvation. Prayer is one of the great aids of piety."

He likened prayer to the two rails on which the huge passenger trains and freights traverse the railroad highways. When they are in good condition, and so kept, there is no danger for the precious burdens they carry. A thrown switch or a loose rail means destruction, wreck and loss. A lapse from prayer was the unlocked switch, the broken rail of the soul's highway to Heaven.

Puts in Busy Day.

Yesterday afternoon Bishop O'Donaghue confirmed a class at the St. John's Catholic church in the county. He returned to Paducah late yesterday afternoon and left last night at 6:15 o'clock for Mayfield, where he

The Rev. Father Monaghan, the bishop's secretary, said the mass, after which confirmation was administered.

The bishop was escorted from the parsonage to the church by the members of the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus. They marched from the house on Sixth street and entered the front doors of the church on Broadway. The bishop was immediately preceded by 27 altar boys, who assisted at the mass.

OKLAHOMA INJUNCTION IN RATE CASE STANDS

Washington, Oct. 31.—The United States supreme court this afternoon denied a petition for a writ of certiorari in the Oklahoma two-cent rate case. The federal district court had granted an injunction in favor of the Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific and other railroads, preventing the enforcement of the state's two-cent law. That injunction is sustained by the highest court.

WRIST IS SHATTERED BY SHOTS FROM GUN

In speaking of the confirmation class he dwelt on the blessings the sacrament brought, and what the day meant to each, and then spoke of the obligation of the young people to their church, their fellow-men, to themselves.

W. O. W. Unveiling

In the presence of 1,000 members and visitors the Woodmen of the World unveiled monuments in memory of their departed brothers yesterday afternoon at Oak Grove cemetery. The pleasant weather brought out a large crowd. In the line of march there were 300 Woodmen. Police Judge D. A. Cross was the master of the day, while Dean's band furnished the music.

CITY RECOVERS PART OF BOND IN 2 SALOON CASES

Surety Company Agrees to Pay $750 For Both.

Injunction of Rickman Is Dissolved.

CIRCUIT COURT JURY TRIALS.

The right of the mayor to revoke the city license of a saloonkeeper when the law was violated was upheld in circuit court this morning, when Circuit Judge William Reed dissolved the injunction of M. L. Rickman against the City of Paducah. Rickman keeps a saloon and was fined in police court for violating the liquor law. Mayor Smith promptly revoked his city license, but Rickman secured an injunction and has kept open. In order to give Rickman an opportunity to take an appeal to the appellate court the injunction will not become effective until the expiration of 20 days. It is understood that Rickman will not appeal.

The suits of the city against the Illinois Surety company for $1,000 on each of the bonds of Rickman and Pace Brothers, were compromised for $750. The compromise being entered in the Rickman case and the Pace case being dismissed.

Jury Trials. Jury trials set for trial at the October civil session of the McCracken court began this morning. The petit jurors were empaneled, and the trials started off with a vim. The most important case on the docket for trial today was the personal injury case of W. D. Hedge against the Paducah Traction company for $20,000 for the loss of a leg. The evidence was finished this morning, and the arguments began this afternoon.

Hedge was struck by a Union station car last year at Sixth and Washington streets and his leg was m

REACTION FROM ABNORMAL MARKET

NOTED BY HENRY CLEWS IN WEEKLY LETTER.

General Tendency is Toward Improvement But Money Bears Watching.

POLITICS ARE ABOUT SETTLED

New York, Oct. 31.—The reaction in the stock market came, as fore shadowed in my last week's letter. The pace of the two previous weeks had been altogether too rapid, and much of the advance in that period was quickly lost. Although the rise in the market had been led by very powerful and aggressive interests, yet there remained exceedingly influential parties not entirely in sympathy with the advance. As a result the taking of profits began on a large scale.

Aside from profit-taking and manipulation an important cause of reaction rested on monetary developments. Last week's advance in the bank of England rate concentrated attention upon the monetary strain threatened in London. For months past foreign experts have been harping upon the probability of a monetary crisis in the United States this autumn. Singularly enough the situation has developed so that there is little or no danger of a crisis in this country, and that if a crisis is to occur at all it will most probably be in London, just where the warning to America has originated.

Money.

The money market will require watching. Loans are considerably in excess of deposits, an unusual and undesirable circumstance. Preparations are in order for November disbursements. The strain in the London money market must have a

Honest Advice to Consumptives

Somehow there exists a vast amount of ignorance in the public mind concerning Consumption. We state none but facts, and are sincere in what we assert. If ourselves afflicted with Tuberculosis, we would do the same for others to do take Eckman's Alternative promptly and faithfully. . . . The reason we should do this and warrant we have for asking all Consumptives to do the same is that there are many cures, one of which follows:

1519 Susquehanna Ave., Phila., Pa.

Gentlemen: For two years I was a consumptive having one of the lung diseases. The number totaled nearly one hundred. Our family physician advised another climate, as to remain would probably be fatal. I did not, however, go. In February of 1902, I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a trifling hacking cough which my medicine had been unable to alleviate. I was again advised to go to another part of the country. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I learned of Eckman's Alternative. In those days of course was gone and I was pronounced "well" or "cured." Since that time I have had two slight attacks of pneumonia and have attributed it to no other medicine to effect a cure.

I am at present in excellent health and feel that as long as I can obtain Eckman's Alternative I have no fear of Consumption. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done me.

reflex action here, although gold shipments are not to be expected at this season, unless Europe should become a free seller of American stocks. London can get accommodation if needed on better terms in Paris than in New York. Local rates for money are firm and good commercial paper commands as high as 6 per cent. Canada is already withdrawing funds from New York, and it remains to be seen whether London will force New York to ship gold to Argentina to settle balances there as was the case a year ago. Again the treasury situation is becoming more acute and the government will soon be obliged to issue bonds to meet expenditures on the Panama Canal. Unfortunately this issue is delayed by interpretations of the law concerning the postal savings banks, which were expected to provide a market for the new bonds. Altogether the money market is in an interesting situation. Doubtless it will work out of present difficulties into an easier condition later on, but during the interval is likely to be a factor of importance in the security market.

Current events, such as the political situation and a not very satisfactory steel report, were also used to explain the reaction; but the real cause lay in the disposition to take profits and the necessity of restraining speculation in order to avoid a severe monetary stringency.

Improvement.

So far as the general situation is concerned, the real tendency is towards improvement. The interior is already beginning to feel the stimulus of a satisfactory harvest. The West has cut loose from politics; seems unconcerned about the money outlook, and is altogether in a decidedly more hopeful frame of mind. The recession in business at the West has been much lighter than at the East, and the general feeling in that section is that the tide has turned, and that from now on improvement will be in order. At the South conditions are generally satisfactory, chiefly because of the general profits realized in cotton growing. There is a singular absence of complaints of any kind from that quarter. In the East, where depression has been much the keenest, the indications of revival are becoming more pronounced. Trade is still below the volume of several preceding years, but here, too, are indications of a turn in the tide. The steel industry must still be considered one of our best trade barometers. It is stated that only 65 per cent. of the blast furnace capacity of the great Steel Corporation is now being operated. In various directions, however, signs of betterment are multiplying. The inquiry for pig Iron during the last week has shown a decided revival, indicating that industrial establishments see better times ahead. Moreover, before very long the railroads are likely to enter the market as larger purchasers, and their transactions are always the most important and significant factors in the steel industry. For many months the railroads have curtailed purchases and postponed improvements as far as possible. Such economy cannot go on indefinitely, and ere long we are likely to see an accumulation of orders that will impart old-time activity to our steel mills. For reasons of their own the railroads have further delayed the placing of orders until having some idea as to what the outcome would be of their claims for better rates before the interstate commission. These decisions may be expected soon after the elections. In all probability the railroads will obtain some concessions; while traffic has been so well sustained in spite of the recent depression in trade that dividend rates have not been at any time seriously imperiled.

the necessity of caution, and tend to avert monetary difficulties. Before very long funds will begin to return from the agricultural districts, and Western farmers, it is said, are borrowing this year less than usual. Western bankers seem to anticipate a plethora of idle funds next winter, which means that money will ultimately accumulate at this centre and bring in lower rates and rising bank reserves. In the bond market there has been considerable improvement, and the outlook is now more hopeful than for some time past, although the recent decline in stocks has temporarily checked the investment demand.

Second: The sooner you come to Christ the sooner you will escape the wretchedness and misery that there is away from Christ.

First of all there is the misery of an accusing conscience. No one in this building out of Christ has peace of conscience.

One night I was preaching in Chicago and I asked everybody in the building who had found rest and perfect satisfaction through the acceptance of Christ to stand up, and hundreds of men and women, more than a thousand, rose to their feet, and then I asked them to sit down, and then I said, "If there is an infidel in this house that can say he has found rest, and peace, and perfect satisfaction of heart in infidelity, will he please stand?" There were a lot of infidels there. One man got up in the gallery, and I said, "I see there is a gentleman up there, I am glad that he has the Courage of His Convictions.

I would like to speak with him in the after meeting. He came to the after-meeting. I said, "Mr. S—, you stood up in the meeting today to say that you had perfect rest and peace of heart without Christ, and that your soul was satisfied in infidelity. Was that true?" "Oh," he said "Mr. Torrey, that will have to be qualified." I guess it will. There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

Then there is the slavery of sin away from Christ. "Whoso committeth sin is the bound-servant of sin" (John viii. 34). Away from Christ is apprehension of what may happen, apprehension of disaster, apprehension of what man may do, apprehension of what may lie beyond the grave. Men and women, when you really come to Christ you you have no fear of misfortune, for you are able to say, "All things work together for good to those who love God;" you have no fear of death, for what men call death is simply to depart and be with Christ. By coming to Christ you get rid of all this wretchedness, you get rid of the accusations of conscience, you get rid of the slavery of sin you get rid of all apprehensions of disaster, you get rid of the dread of death, the moment you really accept Christ. Why not get rid of it all tonight? Suppose you were on the shore, and saw in the distance a wreck and a man clinging to the wreck, and every one in a while the cold waters sweeping over him, and it was a cold wintry night, and you and others should go out in a lifeboat and should say to him, "We have come to take you off."

Drop Into the Lifeboat!

and the man should say, "No, I think I can hold on until morning; come out again in the morning and I will get into the boat and come ashore;" you would say, "Man are you mad? Stay out here tonight when you can come ashore now?" Oh, men and women, out on the wreck, every little while the cold waves are breaking over you, all the wretchedness of an accusing conscience, all the wretchedness of all the wretchedness of the fear of possible death, all the multiplied wretchedness of the soul away from God—why cling to the wreck another night, when you can come ashore to safety and joy now, if you will drop right into the lifeboat?

Third: The sooner you come to Christ the more you can do for Christ.

The moment a person is saved he wants to do something for the Master. If you are saved a year from tonight you will go to work for Christ, but there will be one year gone that will never come back between tonight and a year from tonight (if you come a year from tonight).

Can Never Go Back

over this year. You are associated with friends that you can lead to Christ between now and a year from now who may be past your reach then. Before I was converted I had a friend, and we were often together. We lived in the same building. We went pleasureing together. If I had been a Christian I could have led him to Christ. Three years later, after I had accepted Christ, that young man had passed beyond my reach. The day I went back to the university to study for my second degree, my father picked up the New York Herald and began to read about a young man who was out

DR. TORREY'S FAREWELL SERMON.

Farewells were said at the auditorium last night, where Dr. R. A. Torrey closed the revival services, which had continued all through October. The room was crowded afternoon and night. Mr. McEwan sang two of his most beautiful songs, and Dr. Torrey preached at night on "Today and Tomorrow," and in the afternoon on "The Most Important Business of Life."

After the service last night the ministers all took formal farewells of Dr. Torrey and his workers, and the people crowded around him and he held a levee after the adjournment. Mr. McEwan sang with impressive effect both in the afternoon and evening services. Miss Anderson accompanied with her usual charm. Her playing has been a distinct pleasure of the great meeting.

"When a person comes to the close of such a meeting as this and every hand in the vast audience looks into such a sea of faces and realizes that it is probably the last time he will have the opportunity to preach to them it is terribly solemn. There are many here who will be saved tonight, or never by hearing the Gospel from my lips, but this is not the most solemn thought; there are men and women here who will be saved tonight or else never saved by the Gospel from anybody's lips. It is the great crisis. There are hundreds here whose eternal destiny will hang upon what they do in the next 30 or 40 minutes. Today and tomorrow is my subject tonight and I have a double text. The first, 'The Holy Ghost said, Today,' Heb. iii. 7; the second, 'Boast not thyself of Tomorrow,' Prov. xxvii. 1." Dr. Torrey then spoke in part as follows:

Today is the wise man's day; tomorrow is the fool's day. The wise man is the man who, when he sees what ought to be done, does it today. The foolish man is the man who, when he sees what ought to be done, says, "I will do it tomorrow." The men who always do today the thing they see ought to be done today are the men who make a success for time and for eternity. The men and women who put off until tomorrow what ought to be done today are the men and women who make a shipwreck of time and of eternity. "The Holy Ghost saith, Today." Man, in the folly of his heart, says, "Tomorrow."

I am going to give you five reasons why every truly wise man in this building who has not already accepted Christ as his Savior, surrendered to Him as his Lord and Master, and openly confessed Him as such before the world, will do it now.

Dr. I have no doubt that in this great audience there are literally hundreds if not thousands, of men and women who intend to be Christians some time, but who keep saying, "Not yet," "Not today," and I am going to tell you not merely why you ought to become Christians, but why you ought to become Christians tonight.

First, because: The sooner you come to Christ the sooner you will find the wonderful joy which is to be found in Him.

It admit of no controversy that there is in Jesus Christ an immeasurably better joy than there is in the world, a purer joy, a higher joy, a holier joy, a more satisfying joy, a more abiding joy, a more wonderful joy in every way. This fact does not admit of dispute. Every one here tonight who keeps his eyes open knows that it is true.

Go to any person who has ever tried the world and tried Christ, and tell him the question, "Which joy is better—the joy which you found in the world or the joy which you have found in Christ?" and you will get the same answer every time.

The joy found in the world is not for a moment to be compared with the joy that is found in Christ. I have tried both. I have had abundant opportunity to try both. If ever a person had an opportunity to try what his world can give, I had it, and I tried it. I tried all that could be found in the world, then I turned to Christ and tried Him, and my testimony is just like the testimony of millions of others who have found that the joy of the world is nothing and the joy in Christ is everything.

I don't care how fully a person may have gone into the joys of this world, or how great his opportunity may have been to test them; go to anybody that has tried both and you cannot find in all the world a man that has really found Christ but will tell you there is a joy in Christ higher, deeper, broader, wider, longer, more wonderful in every way, than the joy that the world gives. Well, friends, the sooner you come to

How much consideration was shown the school board ticket at Lang's drug store, where the Lang-Lightfoot combination ticket was made up, is shown by the fact that in the Third and Sixth wards, where there is one vacancy each, two candidates were placed on the ticket for each vacancy.

MIXED POLITICS.

Mixed political results are predicted this year. In the west and northwest, where insurgency has won its victory, Republicans seem to have no anxiety. In New York, where Tammany and Wall street have formed a combination, by which a decent man is running for governor and Tammany boodlers are after the other offices, the situation is in doubt, with the national administration called in to save the day, too much Roosevelt seemingly having estranged many Republicans. In Ohio the Democrats apparently have a shade the best of it, with Harmon, who was elected the same year Taft carried the state, up for re-election. In Tennessee, the Republicans probably will elect the governor with a fusion legislature. In Nebraska William Jennings Bryan couldn't swallow the Democratic platform, and he is making the result there more than doubtful. If the Republicans win in Nebraska and Democrats win in New York, Bryan and Roosevelt will again be in position to claim the only real orthodox Democracy and Republicanism. Even Illinois is mixed, the influence of the Chicago papers having confused voters, and many rockribbed districts are trembling in the balance. Some doubtful districts will slide back over the line of safety this week; but it has been a peculiar campaign.

PATROLMAN SAYS
HE WAS FIRED ON

RECEIVED THREATENING LETTER IN McMANUS CASE.

Bloodhounds Were Unable to Follow Any Trail But the Policeman's.

HE SEARCHED UP THE ALLEY

"Mr. Ogelvey—if you do not tend to your own business find yourself like Frank McManus he's dead take warning."

This letter addressed "Mr. Ogelvey, Paducah, Ky." in the same crude handwriting was received by Patrolman Leslie Ogilvie October 18, he says. At the time Patrolman Ogilvie said nothing about the letter in the hope that it might have been a prank, but he never ceased his effort to solve the mystery of the death of Frank McManus. Instead of a signature the letter was concluded with a crude skull and crossbones. The letter was written on a small sheet of ordinary cheap writing paper, and was mailed in an envelope without any marks of identification. The handwriting is legible, but cramped as if the writer desired to conceal his natural hand writing.

Early Sunday morning Patrolman Ogilvie says he was shot at while patrolling his beat.

Patrolman Ogilvie gave his version of the shooting as follows: "While my partner, Patrolman Schaefer, stood at Tenth and Jones streets I walked west to Twelfth and Jones streets and reported to the police station at 2:30 o'clock. I was returning to Tenth and Jones street, and when I was about two-thirds across the alley between Tenth and Eleventh streets, I heard a bullet whiz near my face. Instantly I dropped to the ground, as I was unprepared for such an attack. Three shots were fired in quick succession, but as I fell I saw the flash from the last shot, and I estimate that he must have been 30 or 40 yards from the mouth of the alley.

"My pistol was in the left pocket of my overcoat, and when I fell I reached for it, and as quickly as possible emptied the pistol about the spot I had seen the flash. After reloading my pistol I walked up the alley, but did not see anybody. I heard somebody walking in the lumber yard, as if they had jumped the fence. I called to Patrolman Schaefer, and went to the mouth of the alley on Tenth street, but failed to find anybody.

In a few minutes we went back to the box at Twelfth and Jones streets, and informed Night Captain Dorian, and asked him to have all the patrolmen close in and pick up all suspects. We gathered in several negroes out on the streets, including a negro woman, who was crazy on coke."

Immediately after the shooting the firemen on watch at the No. 4 station heard the footsteps of a man walking rapidly east on Jones street, while Captain Harry Rudolph, who was awakened by the shots, peered out the window and saw a man walking down the street.

Dogs Couldn't Follow.

In a few minutes after the police headquarters was notified of the shooting, G. T. Riley, of Wickliffe, whose bloodhounds gave an exhibition at Wallace park yesterday, was secured. With the dogs he was rushed to the scene in an automobile in less than an hour after the attempted assassination.

The dogs took the trail of Patrolman easily, and followed his foot steps up the alley, but only once did they get anything like a trail of the shootist. They took the trail in the lumber yard and on the inside of the fences followed the trail to Tenth street, where they went north to the concrete sidewalks on Tennessee street. At this point the dogs were not able to proceed further. Mr. Riley said that the man evidently was aware that the dogs were in the city, and took precautions to fix his shoes so that it would be impossible for the dogs to follow his trail.

November 13 It Will Have Flourished for Seventy Years in Kentucky.

The seventieth anniversary of the First Baptist church will be celebrated Sunday, November 13, at which time several deacons will be ordained. The church was organized Nov. 14, 1840. The Rev. M. E. Dodd will deliver a special sermon, dealing with the history of the church, its growth and of a backward and forward movement. Yesterday there were 15 additions, five of whom were converts of the Torrey revival. Last night the Rev. Dodd preached on the subject of "Christ—Our Life."

The Rev. G. W. Banks filled his pulpit and Mr. William McEwan sang. The orchestra also participated in the services. Dr. Banks left early this morning for Memphis, Tenn., on business.

Anniversary of Reformation.

Today is the anniversary of the reformation, but the celebration was held yesterday at the German Lutheran church on South Fourth street. The Rev. Grother preached in the German language Sunday morning and in English in the evening. Special music by the choir was rendered at the evening service.

At Tenth Street.

Excellent services were held at the Tenth Street Christian church Sunday morning. The protracted meeting, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. G. D. Wyatt, will begin at 7:30 o'clock tonight and an invitation is extended to everyone. Mr. A. J. Bamberg, of the Fountain Avenue Methodist church, will have charge of the singing.

Miss Parker Makes Address.

Miss Mary Moody Parker addressed both the Sunday school and church congregation at the Third Street Methodist church Sunday morning. There was a large addition. The pastor, the Rev. J. B. Pearson, preached at the Littleville church yesterday afternoon and at the Guthrie Avenue Methodist church last night.

Kentucky Avenue.

The Rev. Peter Fields occupied the pulpit at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning, and delivered a powerful sermon, using for his subject, "The Double Portion of the Spirit of God," relating the instance of the transformation of Elijah, as recorded in the Scriptures. A large congregation was present. Prayer meeting will be resumed Wednesday evening and the service will be an echo of the Torrey revival.

Thirteen Additions to the Church.

Burwell preached from the text, "It is Hard for Thee to Kick Against the Pricks," Acts x, 5, at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, showing that the man, who disobeys the command of God, always gets hurt. Broadway Methodist.

The Rev. G. T. Sullivan occupied the pulpit Sunday morning preaching for the first time after a four weeks' illness, and was greeted by a large congregation. His theme was "The Church and Pentecost," and the sermon was a forcible summing up of the importance of the church today being in the state of the early church at Pentecost, in order that the largest results should be obtained from the great Torrey meeting. He dwelt especially upon the points that the early church: Met together; prayed together; broke bread together; had all things in common, and that souls were added daily to the church. Personal, churchly, aggressive work is necessary on the part of the church to accomplish this.

At the close of the sermon Dr. Sullivan administered the rites of adult baptism to 9 persons, and received 14 into the church.

The official board is requested to meet at 7 o'clock this evening at the church. It is most important that every member be present.

The committee on hospitality for the conference session, will meet with Dr. Sullivan at the parsonage on Tuesday evening to assign the homes to the delegates and notify them by card.

Rivermen are facing a gloomy situation as a result of the constant fall of the rivers and the low stage at present. The sandbar abreast of the wharfboat is growing in acreage each day. The Cumberland is practically empty, but there is a fairly good stage yet in the Tennessee. Should the river continue falling navigation will come to a stop.

From Grand Chain the government boat R. J. Armstrong arrived Sunday for supplies and a little repair work, in charge of Captain Harvey Brown. She returned today to resume work.

Captain Frank Farnsley, who has been visiting his family in Paducah, returned to Cairo Sunday night. He is in charge of the towboat Barrett.

Low water having driven the heavy packet boats to shore, the Lee Line has chartered the Electra, which has been lying at Paducah several weeks. She will leave tomorrow and will run between Memphis and Cairo, leaving Cairo tomorrow afternoon on her regular run in charge of Capt. John Flanagan. Both the packets James Lee and Stacker Lee are aground, the former below Memphis and the latter at Island No. 10 in the Mississippi. The other Lee boats have tied up owing to the low stage.

The U. S. S. Colbert arrived here from McCollough's bar, Tennessee river, Sunday to have repair work done. She returned today.

The sale of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet company's boats, wharfboats, etc., has been postponed again until November 16.

The F. M. Owens, which operated from the Memphis wharf the past summer as an excursion boat, is tied up at Helena, Ark., by order of court. It is alleged that a debt of $133 is due Lee brothers, of Memphis. The Owens left Memphis several days ago for New Orleans, where she is to run an excursion steamer during the coming winter.

Capt. Flanagan and the crew of the Stacker Lee arrived here last night to take the Electra out tomorrow at 10 a.m. with her same crew.

The towboat Charles Turner after delivering a tow of logs at Metropolis, returned at 7 o'clock last night and will get away today for the Tennessee river after another tow.

After carrying off-als of the Ayer & Lord Tie company on an inspection trip along the banks of the Tennessee river, the towboat Pavonia returned at 8 o'clock Sunday night. President J. B. Lord and son, Mr. Russell Lord, will return to Chicago tomorrow. Captain Henry Baker says the conditions were found to be very favorable. The Pavonia will depart for the Tennessee river tomorrow and bring out a tow of ties.

Ducks are plentiful along the Ohio river and Paducah hunters take advantage of them.

Captain James F. Browinsk, of Joppa, Ill., returned home this morning on the Dick Fowler. Tomorrow he and Capt. Roy Broadfoot, of the towboat Condor, will leave for the upper Mississippi river in their motor boat "B. & B." going to Dog Tooth, 20 miles above Cairo, where they will hunt for wild geese and ducks. They have a supply of decoys and expect to have plenty of fun during the several days' outing.

Sunday afternoon the excursion boat Robertson took a large crowd to Metropolis and returning about 6 o'clock. She is making her regular freight trips today.

Driven from the Cumberland river by low water the Bob Dudley arrived from Clarksville last night and tied up at the wharfboat today. She may enter the Evansville trade tomorrow, leaving at 10 a.m. with her same crew.

The John L. Lowry is due to arrive tomorrow from Evansville, although she may be delayed or forced to tie up, owing to low water. On her last trip here she went aground at Elizabethtown, and the river has been falling slowly since.

The Clyde will arrive tomorrow from Waterloo, Ala., and return Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. The stage of the Tennessee will permit a few more trips.

From St. Louis the excursion boat Alton arrived today and went into winter quarters in the Duck's Nest, up the Tennessee.

The Dick Fowler left at 8 o'clock this morning for Cairo and is due back early tonight. If the river continues to fall she will be forced to discontinue the trade.

tucky, resigned Saturday night after several months' service. He has been succeeded by Lonnie Rogers, formerly second clerk on the Reuben Dunbar.

According to reports from Evansville the sloopboat E. A. Woodruff is laid up having repairs made to a cylinder head, which she blew out while putting a snag opposite Uniontown near the Indiana shore.

The assistant engineer's leg was fractured by a piece of iron. Rivermen are wondering why the Woodruff has overlooked the wreck near Mounts.

They say the wreck, which is a sunken coal boat, has been there at least three years and the Woodruff has had time to take a pull at it.

The Ohio arrived from Golconda on time this morning and left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for a return trip.

The George Cowling made her two regular trips between Paducah and Metropolis today on time.
